Textbook and Instructional Materials Selection Process

Report the textbook and instructional materials selection process used for general education courses with high enrollment. Include the course prefix(es) and number(s), the course title(s), and the total number of courses (n). In column "F," use the drop-down arrow in each cell to select the appropriate selection process. The methodology for determining high enrollment courses is as follows: Order courses (course prefix/number) by headcount enrollment, excluding honors courses. The top 10% of courses are determined as high enrollment.

Textbook & Instructional Materials Affordability Initiatives

Describe specific initiatives of the institution designed to reduce the costs of textbooks and instructional materials.

The FAU Campus Bookstores offer various cost savings choices in the forms of new, rent new, rent used, buy used, rent digital, and buy digital textbook options. Students can purchase textbooks in formats that will afford them a considerable discount compared to the price of purchasing a new textbook. The bookstore also offers discounts in the form of price matching on textbooks and instructional materials offered from local brick and mortar bookstores and online retailers. If students find their purchased course material at a lower price from a competing retailer, they are eligible to receive the difference in price from the campus bookstore.

Textbooks on Reserve Program

The University Libraries have worked to build a comprehensive reserve collection of course materials available for students to check-out. Students may access course materials for over 400 classes via an online tool where they can locate available textbooks by-course and check them out for 3-hour intervals within the University Libraries. When available, electronic textbooks are licensed by the library for students to utilize both on and off campus. To sustain the collection, faculty may donate or loan textbooks to the program, while students are encouraged "Pay it Forward" and donate their textbooks at the end of the semester. The link to the list of available textbooks and how to contribute to the Textbook Reserve collection can be found here: <https://libguides.fau.edu/textbooks-reserves>

Inclusive Access Program

FAU implemented the Follett Access program in spring 2019 which enables costs for selected textbook and course materials to be included with tuition and other course charges. Students can access savings by opting-in before the start of the semester. Participating students receive up to 40% in discounts on their required/ recommended course materials and gain access to these materials by the first day of class. Since the launch of this program about 25,000 students have participated and have collectively saved over $1M.

Fall 2021

The fall 2021 inclusive access program included 323 course sections where 6,372 students opted-in to participate and collectively saved $228,206. These savings represent a 22.6% increase in savings from the previous fall term.

Spring 2022

The spring 2022 inclusive access program included 315 course sections where 5,475 students opted-in to participate and collectively saved $247,818. These savings represent a 22.1% increase in savings increase from the previous spring term.

Has the opt-in provision been implemented by your institution for the purchase of student materials? If yes, describe the impact this has had on student savings, if any.

The opt-in provision was first implemented at Florida Atlantic University in spring 2019 and since then about 25,000 participating students have collectively saved over $1M.

Has the opt-out provision been implemented by your institution for the purchase of student materials? If yes, describe the impact this has had on student savings, if any.

The opt-out provision has not been implemented at Florida Atlantic University. The university Textbook Affordability Committee reviewed an opt-out program proposal in spring 2022 and after careful consideration the Provost's Advisory Committee proposed the continuation of the opt-in program as-is. University leaders may review a revised opt-out program proposal in the coming academic year.

University Policies for the Posting of Textbooks and Instructional Materials & Compliance with the Posting Deadline

Describe policies implemented to ensure the posting of textbooks and instructional materials for at least 95% of all courses and course sections 45 days before the first day of class.

FAU Regulation 3.004 was promulgated to minimize the cost of textbooks to students while maintaining the quality of instruction and academic freedom. In Fall 2016 this regulation was amended to align with the BOG regulation 8.003. The policy stipulates that textbooks shall be adopted no later than sixty (60) days prior to the first day of classes to allow sufficient time for the FAU Bookstore to work with publishers to confirm the availability of the requested materials and to ensure maximum availability of used books. The additional fifteen (15) days provides a time buffer that allows the institution to ensure that it meets the BOG forty-five (45) day posting deadline.

Textbook adoptions are submitted by faculty members through the university's learning management system, Canvas. The adoptions are entered through the Follett Discover portal, which is linked in Canvas and automatically loads the faculty member's course assignments. As adoptions are submitted, they are instantly fed into FAU's course registration system for all course sections. Students utilize a searchable website for FAU Course Materials where they can view required and recommended course materials by term, department, course, and course section. The website details pricing options for all items including buy new, rent new, rent used, buy used, rent digital, and buy digital options.

In addition to the implementation of FAU regulation 3.004, the university's Textbook Adoption Compliance Committee (TACC) comprised of faculty members, administrators, and the University bookstore management, leads the university's textbook adoption compliance efforts. The committee meets each semester and has been an effective medium to increase communication between faculty members, administrators, and the university bookstore.

In an effort to closely track all textbook adoptions, an electronic dashboard was created in fall 2018 to track all adoptions that are submitted to the university bookstore. The Textbook Adoption and Cost Dashboard provides real-time textbook adoption information and lists adoption statuses by college, department, course section, and instructor. The dashboard also calculates total and average costs for each course and course section. The tool is available to all faculty and relevant staff members. In fall 2018, the University implemented an electronic system to track late adoption changes requests. Faculty members who attempt to submit late adoptions are required to receive approval from their college's dean and invited to consider no-cost alternatives such as Open Educational Resources (OER).

In fall 2019 the university established annual textbook adoption deadlines that are on average 90-days or more before the start of each semester. These new deadlines were established to provide the university bookstore with additional time to source used and rental materials and helps alleviate the volume of adoptions that would normally occur 2-3 weeks prior to the state deadline when the majority of textbook adoptions were submitted. The new annual deadlines are as follows: fall—April 15, spring—October 15, summer—March 15.

Are the policies effective in meeting the reporting requirement? If not, what measures will be taken by the university to increase faculty and staff compliance for meeting the reporting requirement?

The policies and procedures implemented in recent years have been effective in ensuring the university meets the reporting requirements.
