

Become an Instructional Designer

Did you know you can get a certificate in instructional design?

This is a great opportunity to develop skills in a high demand field!

All Four Courses Online in One Year!

FOUR REQUIRED COURSES:

- EME 6458 Distance Learning Theory and Practice (FALL TERM)
- EME 6209 Self-Regulated Learning Systems (FALL TERM)
- EME 6051 Models of Learning and Instruction (SPRING TERM)
- EME 6601 Instructional Design (SPRING TERM)

How do I apply?

Are you currently enrolled in an FAU graduate program?

- Consult with your advisor and register for our courses.

If you are not currently enrolled at FAU, apply here as a non-degree student:

- <https://www.fau.edu/registrar/registration/non-degree.php>
- Once you are accepted, register for our courses.

Instructional designers are in demand with the expanded need for distance learning training and educational options. Make a difference in a student's life! Be an instructional designer!

bachelor's degree required • easy to apply • no GRE

Interested?

Your first step is to connect with us here: Enrollment Request

For more info contact:
dcf@fau.edu

FAU
DEPARTMENT OF CURRICULUM
AND INSTRUCTION
College of Education
Florida Atlantic University